

Yoshino Yayama

Frontend Web Developer

Front-end developer with a background in law and passion for user experience and interaction design, and strong creative and strategic thinking. Learning and growing as a developer is essential to me and I am currently working on 3+ front-end projects for my diploma program. I am good at working in teams and enjoy collaborating with colleagues and solving problems. I have worked on multiple projects related to React and I'm currently working on an e-commerce project in React and creative responsive design so I promise to do my best to provide the latest interface.
